Coastal Grandmother Style is making waves everywhere and ironically you don't need to live near the coast or be a grandmother. This new trend blends blue and white color palettes with linen and cozy cable knits. This decorating style is quite similar to the recent grand-millennial trend that favors florals, chintz and soft pastel palettes. Click on the image below to see this amazing beach house!

Think Martha Stewart cozy interiors meets Ina Garten's stylish Hampton's beach house. The coastal grandmother decor style embraces all the little things that make a house feel like home such as cozy throw pillows, oversized slip-covered furniture and lots of natural light. In a nutshell, the coastal grandmother look draws inspiration from the aesthetic seen in Nancy Meyers' movies—specifically. Think of the beach house in the movie Something's Gotta Give which is one of my favorite movies. I loved Diane Keaton's beach house!

Coastal Grandmother Style is about utilizing what you have available to you in the form of heirlooms and mixing it with classic elements that evoke relaxation and calm. We could all use a little more peace and calm after the last two years.

Are you wondering how to incorporate the Coastal Grandmother aesthetic into your space? It's all about using neutral color palettes, breezy white linen curtains, a mix of antiques and modern pieces, overstuffed slip-covered sofas and handmade ceramics.
